

Lexingworth Capital

Recruitment Package 2026-2027

Introduction

Our history

Founded in 2017, Lexingworth Capital is a student-led finance organization at McMaster University dedicated to educating, preparing, and building a community of high-achieving students passionate about finance.

Since its inception, the club has grown into a platform that bridges academic learning with real-world application. We actively manage a portfolio, tracking performance and applying fundamental and technical analysis to simulate real investment decision-making. This hands-on approach allows members to develop practical skills in equity research, valuation, and portfolio management.

Our commitment to excellence is reflected in the success of our alumni, who have gone on to secure roles at leading firms across North America. Through structured training, technical development, and a strong mentorship network, Lexingworth Capital continues to cultivate the next generation of finance leaders.

We are constantly striving to elevate our standards, expand our reach, and establish ourselves as one of the premier undergraduate finance organizations, driven by a shared ambition to be the best.

Hiring Process

Our recruitment process is designed to identify driven, high-potential candidates who are eager to develop their technical and professional skillsets. The process consists of a written application, followed by two rounds of interviews conducted by members of the Executive Team and/or selected Portfolio Managers.

We run two recruitment cycles annually. The first round of applications is released in the middle of summer and concludes in August. A second round opens in September and concludes shortly thereafter.

We recruit for multiple roles across specific coverage groups, including Portfolio Managers (PMs), Senior Analysts, Junior Analysts, and Research positions. Each role is structured to provide meaningful, hands-on experience within our club.

What we're looking for

We seek highly driven individuals with a genuine passion for investing and finance, and an unwavering commitment to excellence. Our members are intellectually curious, disciplined, and motivated to continuously push beyond their limits.

At Lexingworth Capital, we prioritize both performance and culture. We look for candidates who are not only ambitious in their personal pursuits, but who also contribute to a tight-knit, high-caliber community built on accountability, collaboration, and shared success.

Successful candidates demonstrate strong critical thinking, a relentless work ethic, and a willingness to embrace challenges in a demanding, fast-paced environment. Whether experienced or new to finance, those who stand out are individuals who take initiative, seek out learning opportunities, and are driven to operate at the highest level.

Recommended Resources

News & Research

- The Wall Street Journal
- Bloomberg
- Financial Times
- The Economist
- Morning Brew
- The Daily Upside (free newsletters)

Online Communities

- Wall Street Oasis
- Seeking Alpha

Books

- The Intelligent Investor by Benjamin Graham
 - Investment Banking by Joshua Rosenbaum and Joshua Pearl
 - Margin of Safety by Seth Klarman
 - Barbarians at the Gate by Bryan Burrough and John Helyar
 - Security Analysis by Benjamin Graham and David Dodd
 - King of Capital by David Carey and John E. Morris
-

Sample Interview Questions

Note: These are sample questions and may or may not be asked in your interview. Please come prepared to discuss your experiences, demonstrate your technical knowledge, and think critically under pressure.

Tip: Try to structure your answers using the STAR (Situation, Task, Action, Result) technique, and ensure you have a solid understanding of key concepts from COMMERCE 1AA3, COMMERCE 2FA3, and COMMERCE 2FB3.

Behavioral

- Why are you interested in joining Lexingworth Capital?
- What are some of your strengths?
- What are some of your weaknesses?
- Tell me about a time you demonstrated leadership.
- Tell me about a time you ran into a problem and how you solved it.
- How have your experiences prepared you for this position?
- Tell me about a time you worked under pressure.
- Why are you interested in finance?
- Tell me about a time you set a goal and achieved it.
- Why should we hire you?
- Tell me about a recent market trend you found interesting.
- What's something about you that's not on your resume?

Technical

- What are the three financial statements and how do they link together?
- If you could pick one financial statement to analyze a company, which one would you pick?
- How does Depreciation going up by $10 affect the three financial statements?
- What is the Weighted Average Cost of Capital (WACC) conceptually?
- Walk me through a discounted cash flow.
- When would you not use a DCF in a valuation?
- $100 factory purchase with 50% debt, 50% cash. How does this affect all 3 financial statements?
- Could a company conceptually have a negative enterprise value?
- What are some common enterprise and equity value multiples?
- What does a high P/E ratio relative to its peer group mean?
- What is one of your favorite stocks and why?
- What's a recent market event that piqued your interest?
- A company has an Enterprise Value of $100 million, Debt of $30 million, and Cash of $10 million. What is its Equity Value?